Ref : Militech

This serves as confirmation that after having the emissions tested on my vehicle and seeing the reasonable results from the system, I then included a measured dose of Militech in the oil of the car.

I have been driving the car on a mixture of A and B roads as well as Motorways for a number of months now with the oil additive and have seen a marked improvement in the performance and fuel consumption of my car.

It has added another 10 to 12% in the distance I can travel with a single tank of fuel and has also made the engine perform in an improved manner. I am under no illusions that it has been the additive that has made the changes and not the manner in which I have been driving.

The vehicle in which the Militech was added is a Mercedes-Benz C240 Sport estate. The fuel consumption was never great but since the addition, it has made a marked improvement.

I further details are required then please do not hesitate to make contact using the above details.

Thank You
